Welcome!

Here at Kiel, our focus is on seating systems for public passenger transport and commercial vehicles. Close contact with clients and users as well as our own know-how enable us to develop new products in line with market requirements. Creative solutions for the most diverse needs and constant improvements to existing products, as well as the development of new ones, are the keys to our business.

Kiel is synonymous with innovative solutions in passenger seating engineering. Greater cost-effectiveness, increased capacity in passenger transport, greater travel comfort in the bus and train sector and expertise in the supply of global systems are at the heart of what we do.
